As the last decade takes shape and political and economic conditions begin to stabilize, countries such as Russia and China are likely to emerge as major powers. The economic gap is wide, but the time has come for the two nations, sharing one of the 12 world's great rivers, to begin to cooperate. Both are rich in water, but both have little of the infrastructure to use it. The countries share one of the world's great hydrological systems, the Amur basin, which flows from the mountains of the Himalayas to the sea. The Amur basin is one of the world's great river systems. The Amur basin, which flows from the mountains of the Himalayas to the sea, is one of the world's great river systems.
